

COACHING for TRANSFORMATION

From the Director

AD's and Coaches,

I recently read a book called Coachability; the main message is about avoiding blind spots and expanding your effectiveness through daily leadership practices. Coaching for Transformation allows us to continue researching best practices and strategies to lead effectively in all athletics areas. I encourage you to examine and reflect on the methods of your job and how effective they are with your coaches and athletes. We would also like to help you with some of those resources; please take 5 minutes to fill out the surveys below:
